
Some stories you may have heard...

1. Evolution has been proved

Wrong! No-one has ever found any real evidence to prove evolution. Scientists are still looking for the “missing link”. Anyway, if evolution is a continual process, why don't we still see evidence of things changing?

2. Creation has been disproved

Wrong again! Science has never made any discoveries that disprove the Bible description of the beginning of the world. In fact, new discoveries are often being made which are in agreement with the Bible.

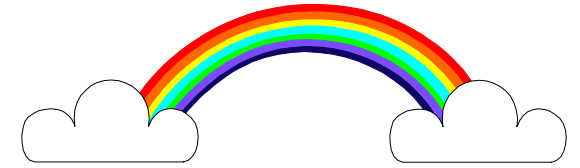

3. The world is millions of years old

Is it really? Where's the evidence? If you go to the seaside, you can see rocks and fossils being formed. It doesn't take millions of years today, so why should it have done so then?

Evolution was invented by men who did not want to believe that God created the world.

4. Dinosaurs lived long before men came along

Who says? The Bible, which has never been disproved, has descriptions of great beasts with scales and teeth which sound like nothing on earth today. The Bible talks about a world-wide flood, which is also described in the ancient literature of other cultures. What if the flood caused such a change in the climate that the dinosaurs just couldn't survive? There was plenty of room for them in the ark.

5. Human embryos go through all the stages of evolution from fish to man

Is this what you were taught at school? Even the scientists now realise that the bone at the base of your spine is not the remains of a tail, but an anchorage point for all the muscles of the lower back. The same is true for the other features which people used to think were proof that we used to be animals. Do you really think you are related to a prawn?

So why is the fairy story of evolution so popular? Because if you believe it, you can escape from belief in God. Before evolution was invented, everyone believed that God made the world. Now they think that isn't true, they don't have to worry about him. But evolution is not based on facts; it is a made-up story. The facts remain. The world is here, so somebody must have made it. God is the obvious candidate, don't you think?

THE BIG
BANG

EXPLODING THE MYTH